STRIKES HEAD IN FALLING

Is Rendered Unconscious and Sinks to Death Before Help Comes—Circulation Manager of Budget Meets Untimely end—Son Saw Accident.

J. A. Rannels, circulation manager of the Astoria Budget came to an untimely end yesterday at Sand Island through an accident which resulted in his death by drowning. The body has not been recovered. Mr. Rannels leaves a widow and three children, a brother and two sisters.

Accompanied by his son Noble, Mr. Rannels had gone to Sand Island on the launch Alexander, Jr., to observe the seining operations. Reaching a scow belonging to the Warren Packing company, they proceeded to climb aboard, using a ladder which led from the smaller craft. Little is known as to the precise manner in which Mr. Rannels lost his life, but it is believed that in following his son up the ladder a rung gave way and he was precipitated into the water, striking his head upon some obstruction as he fell.

Young Rannels, according to a relative, realized that a man was overboard, but was not aware that it was his father. He called for help, and although there was immediate response the senior Rannels did not reappear on the surface. Nets and grappling hooks were pressed into use by the crew of the scow in an effort to recover the body, but this proved futile. News of the accident was brought here by Captain Muller of the launch. Noble Rannels was so affected by the tragic ending of his father that he could recall nothing that happened.

John H. Rannels leaves a widow, two daughters, a son, two sisters and a brother. A pathetic phase of his sudden death is that one sister, Miss Margaret Rannels of Illinois, was on her way to visit her brother when the accident occurred.

Samuel Rannels of Los Angeles and Mrs. Lizzie Harbour of Illinois are the remaining brother and sister. Mr. Rannels was about 50 years of age and a member of the I. O. O. F., under whose auspices the funeral will doubtless be held. For the past nine years he has been associated with the Astoria Budget as circulation manager, and at all times proved a conscientious and efficient servant. His loss will be keenly felt by his associates.

WILL MAKE BAR RUN

Captain Scott Plans Unique Route for Telegraph.

CASCADE OWNERS PROTEST

Formal Protest Against Fine Is Filed at Custom House—Columbia Leaves Out With Good Crowd—Elmore for Tillamook Today.

Captain U. B. Scott has planned a unique run for the fast stern-wheeler Telegraph. The steamer will ply between the exposition city and the Columbia river thus, thus affording exposition visitors an opportunity to see the great Pacific ocean in all its glory. This run will be maintained until the end of the tourist season, when it is believed the Telegraph will be placed on the regular Portland-Astoria run, although nothing of a tangible nature has resulted from the numerous inquiries made of Captain Scott. The Telegraph arrived in last night from Portland and leaves this morning on her return trip, carrying the Astoria contingent of Elks to the exposition.

Protest Is Filed.

The owners of the steamer Cascade filed a formal protest at the custom house yesterday against the $300 fine recently imposed for alleged shortage in the steamer's lifeboat equipment. The protest asserts that in December, 1904, the Cascade was inspected and that a certificate, good for one year, was issued; and claims that under an alleged ruling of Supervising Inspector General Uher, she cannot be compelled to carry additional equipment, until after the expiration of that certificate. The fine was imposed under a law which went into effect on July 1, and while the owners do not claim the vessel was equipped in accordance with the provisions of the new law, they do claim that the law could not apply to the Cascade until next December, when her present certificate expires. The protest has been forwarded to Washington.

Columbia Leaves Out.

Steamer Columbia left out yesterday for San Francisco with a full passenger list and a heavy cargo. Apparently, from the number of people aboard the steamer, there is not the slightest possibility of the heavy traffic during the exposition period falling off.

Steamer Alliance arrived in yesterday from Coos bay and Eureka with freight and passengers.

Steamer Despatch arrived in yesterday and proceeded to the exposition city, where she will load lumber for a return voyage.

IS SERIOUS ERROR

Prominent Cincinnati Lecturer jailed at Hammond.

DETERMINED TO SUE TOWN

Professor Pikney, President of Several Important Educational Bodies, is Arrested at Hammond—Finally Released—and Consults Attorneys.

Professor Pikney, president of the Cincinnati School of Oratory and serving the National Oratorical association, an affiliation of the National Educational association, in a similar capacity, it has just been divulged, was jailed at Hammond along with a young Englishman who was operating what was alleged to be a bunco portrait scheme. Professor Pikney has since been released and is taking measures to sue the town of Hammond in the way of smoothing his ruffled dignity.

It seems that a few days ago while traveling toward Seaside on the A. & C. railway, Professor Pikney broke into conversation with a young Englishman. In course of the discussion, Professor Pikney vouchsafed that he was a lecturer, of no mean renown, and was touring the Northwest giving addresses to topics of importance in various communities. The young fellow very kindly unfolded a beautiful word picture of the attractive commonwealth of Hammond, saying it was an enterprising community of 800 people and that a lecture there would undoubtedly be well patronized. Professor Pikney decided to pay Hammond a visit.

Half an hour after his arrival he was astonished to learn that his erstwhile friend had been incarcerated in the Hammond calaboose. He went to the jail and remonstrated, but the auditor and police judge, however, was obdurate and complied with the professor's request by lodging him in jail along with the purveyor of crayon portraits, with the trial set for the next day.

Professor Pikney protested emphatically, asserting that he was a man of prominence and that to place him in jail was a gross injustice. This proved unavailing, and with the Englishman, the professor was put in a cell. Later in the evening a well-wishing, but unknown friend, offered to break a window in the jail to permit the escape of Professor Pikney and his companion. The professor refused.

The man was persistent and broke a window. Later the town marshal called and told both the men to go. The Englishman responded with alacrity and "flew the coop," but the professor remained. Probably fearing that a previous error had been made further efforts to induce the professor to leave were made, but he was determined.

He was released the next day, and after visiting Seaside came here to consult attorneys. The professor was deeply humiliated by the experience and is determined to bring immediate proceedings against the town of Hammond. Professor Pikney, it is said, is prominent among educators and especially well known in the East.

PAYDAY ON THE A. & C. R.

Yesterday was payday on the Astoria & Columbia River railway and Auditor F. D. Kuettnner made the trip up and down the railroad, paying off the hands in the various departments.

BOYS' BRIGADE READY TO VISIT EXPOSITION.

Military Body of Juveniles Will Leave Shortly for the Portland Fair.

Rev. Luther D. Mahone returned last night from a trip to Portland, where he went to make arrangements for taking up the Boys' brigade to visit the Lewis and Clark fair. While there, Rev. Mr. Mahone secured the necessary tents and guns for the brigade and the boys will discard the wooden guns with which they have been drilling like the famous Bucktail regiment from Bucks county, Pa., that marched down to Washington at the first call to arms at the beginning of the civil war armed with hickory clubs.

The boys will be supplied with the real article. According to arrangements the brigade will leave here on Monday morning, 60 strong, and on their arrival at the fair will go into camp near the O. N. G. and will put in a week visiting the fair and have the time of their lives, receiving as they will, admission to all concessions and attractions gratuitously. They will give an exhibition drill every day during the visit.
